

Germany Is Barred From Genoa Conference

Allies Decide That Her Action in Making Treaty With Russia Violates Conditions Upon Which She Entered Conference.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Genoa, April 18.—By signing an economic treaty with the Russian Soviet government, Germany barred herself from further participation in the conference now under way here. This was the decision of the five leading powers—Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan. The decision was made public in a statement issued at 7 o'clock tonight after the Allied leaders had spent the whole day in conference regarding the Russo-German treaty.

BENEDICTINE BALL A GREAT SUCCESS

The Easter Benedictine Charity Ball, the last big ball of the season, was a great success in every way. The army looked remarkably at the festive and offered an exceptional pretty background to the dainty and handsome evening gowns of young women and young girls, for apparently everyone at the ball was young.

The big drill shed was decorated simply but effectively, with some thirty large American flags as the chief decoration. The overhead electric lights were shaded with rose colored paper and from the lights colored streamers of red, white and blue. The music was given by the orchestra. The platform and refreshment booths were palm decorated and the two booths were remarkably attractive. The flower and cigar booth always has the advantage of its wares, the beautiful carnations and roses, to add to its appearance, and in addition the exterior of the booth—both this and the lemonade booth—were made of evergreens, which were artistically decorated with cherry blossoms. The lemonade booth was conspicuous for its original and pretty decorations of yellow lemons, the booth being cleverly designed by Mrs. William Utter.

The excellent dance music was furnished, as always for these balls, by members of the Musicians' Union, Curt Shurtler conducting the orchestra. There was an enjoyable orchestral concert given early in the evening, followed by one program number that created a decided enthusiastic applause. This was the solo dance given by Miss Katherine Kearney, who for the past year has been studying at the Metropolitan Ballet School of Dancing, New York City. In an exquisite and most becoming ballet costume of rose pink, Miss Kearney danced the Chopin "Minuet Waltz" with rare grace and charm, her toe dancing calling forth a great burst of applause. She graciously responded to the continued applause by giving an encore number, more in the nature of an aesthetic dance, which was the very poetry of motion and beauty.

During the evening, Dr. Day was presented with a huge armful of pink carnations, a gift of appreciation from the Auxiliary members. The happy party and the dancing continued until two o'clock, Dr. Day in a sense the hostess, remaining to bid "good night" to the last guest.

AFIDAVITS QUIET ATHLETIC RUMOR AT FORDHAM

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 18.—All was again serene at Fordham University today after the promised athletic shake-up had been averted by eight members of the baseball team signing an affidavit denying that they had taken part in a Sunday game with the Waterbury club, of the Eastern League.

Amors however, persist that the matter is not ended. A thorough investigation is to follow, it is said, although surface indications are that the men are regarded as vindicated. At any rate, the accused players left with the squad on the annual southern trip last night.

An Auto Collision.
Monday a truck owned by William Glass and a Nash car driven by Morris Miller collided at Bruyn Avenue and Deans street. It was reported to the police in the collision but no one was injured.

Enjoyed Samsonville Dance.
The dance held at Halverson's Hall, Samsonville was well attended and every one enjoyed themselves.

BECKWITH VICTIM OF HOLDUP MEN

Tannersville Man in Kingston City Hospital With Broken Jaw, Ribs and Badly Bruised Body—New York Bandits Overlooked His Roll But Stole Suit Case.

James T. Beckwith, of Tannersville, is in the men's ward in the Kingston City Hospital with a broken jaw, a fractured rib and a badly bruised body sustained early Saturday morning when he was held up and robbed by a gang of New York highwaymen at 42nd street and Ninth avenue, while waiting for the ferry to cross over to Weehawken and enroute for Kingston.

Beckwith, who has been employed on a farm at Tannersville last summer, had been working in the south. He had spent the winter months in the north cutting Christmas trees. He had left the south and was on his way back to Tannersville to obtain work on a farm. He was accompanied by his friend, Dwight Brundow, also of Tannersville, who had been working in the south with him.

They had arrived safely in New York City and that morning were on 42nd street, near Ninth avenue, expecting to cross over the river on the 3 o'clock ferry to take the early train for Kingston.

Beckwith's story of what happened follows: "I was standing on the corner with Brundow, and suddenly when I glanced up I saw several men approach and suddenly I was struck over the head. As I fell to the sidewalk the gang jumped on me and beat me up. They kicked me in the back and face and broke my jaw and a rib. I must have been beaten unconscious. When I came to my friend had disappeared and so had my suit case.

"I don't know whether they got him or not, but I have not seen or heard from him since. Fortunately for me I had my money, about $75 in bills, pinned to my underclothing and they did not get it. In my suit case was a new suit of clothes and $150 in stock of the Liberty Tractor Company of Detroit, and I don't suppose I will ever see it again."

Beckwith said that when he found he was alone on the street he managed to arise, and with difficulty crossed over to Weehawken on the ferry and boarded a train for Kingston, getting here Sunday. He made the trip unassisted and went to the hospital.

Beckwith looked as though a cyclone had struck him when seen in his bed at the hospital this morning. His face is black and blue and he said that his entire body was badly bruised, probably from the kicks and blows inflicted on him.

As soon as he recovers sufficiently he says that he is going on to Tannersville to spend the summer working on a farm there.

OCEAN FLYERS ON LONGEST LEG

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Lisbon, April 18.—Lieutenants Sacadura and Coutinho, Portuguese naval aviators, hopped off in their small hydro airplane from Porto Praia in the Cape Verde Islands at 5:50 today, starting the longest leg of their trans-Atlantic flight.

The aviators transferred their base of operations from St. Vincent to Porto Praia late yesterday. The next stop is Fernando Noronha, a small island a short distance north-east of Pernambuco.

The fliers left Lisbon March 30, reaching Las Palmas in the Canary Islands on the same day, a distance of more than 1,000 miles. Six days later they continued their flight, flying the 700 miles to the Cape Verde Islands in about nine hours.

The stage on which the aviators hopped off today is 1,400 miles long, and if successful will be second in distance only to the St. John Al distance of 1,900 miles from Newfoundland to the coast of Ireland in the summer of 1919.

According to schedule, when the two lieutenants left Lisbon, they planned to reach Fernando Noronha today. Their plane is expected to maintain a speed of about ninety miles an hour.

ASSIGNEE OF LEWIS PRICE FILES HIS ACCOUNTS

Newton H. Fessenden has filed in the county clerk's office his account as assignee of Lewis Price for the benefit of creditors. The assignment was made by Price on December 30, 1921. The assignor failed and refused to make and file his inventory and schedules, which were made by the assignee. The stock and fixtures of Price at No. 40 Broadway were sold at auction for $691 and there are no other assets. The debts listed by the assignee aggregate $3,875.24. Expenses incurred by the assignee amounted to $229.20, and a bill for $120 for rent also has been presented. William D. and William D. Brininger, Jr., are attorneys for the assignee.

FRENCH WILL NOT BOLT CONFERENCE

Cabinet Decides Such Action Would Do France More Harm Than Good—British Press Suspicious of Russo-German Pact.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, April 18.—After a two-hour session of the cabinet today, official announcement was made that the French delegation to the Genoa conference will not be recalled immediately as a result of the Russo-German treaty being signed, it was decided, the announcement stated, that an opportunity will be given to the Allied statesmen at Genoa to act jointly with regard to the action of the Germans and Russians.

"We will let George do it," was the explanation of one of the cabinet members who has a keen knowledge of American slang. It was said that the majority of the cabinet decided that it would be dangerous for France to take action that might break up the Genoa conference abruptly. Such action, it was said, might prove harmful to France in that it would result in isolation.

Premier Poincare announced that he would receive American correspondents later in the day and explain France's position to them.

London, April 18.—The British press takes a serious view of the Russo-German treaty.

"It is a kick at the whole conference," declares the Times, which goes on to say that the treaty may lead to a military alliance and a repudiation by Germany of the Versailles pact.

"It gives an opportunity for an outcry from those critics who were suspicious of the Genoa conference," says the Chronicle.

The Daily News declared that the Genoa conference is in peril and that a reaction is likely to occur on the reparations question.

"One real menace to the peace of Europe is a combination of Russia and Germany," said the Post.

The whole press takes the view that Germany acted unethically after accepting the Cannes resolutions.

MUTINEERS HOLD BELFAST BUILDINGS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, April 18.—Belfast was recovering today from a night of terror, according to reports reaching here.

During the night several persons received gunshot wounds. Fifteen houses were destroyed in incendiary fires.

Discord between rival factions in the Irish Republican army in Dublin, was still smoldering. Hopes were expressed, however, that with the passing of a comparatively uneventful Easter-tide, civil strife will be averted. Truce conferences, which will be renewed tomorrow, are expected to be more successful than those which were broken off last week.

Mutineers were still holding several selected buildings while loyal Republican army troops were maintaining an active guard over strategic points they are holding.

It was considered remarkable here that in spite of the tension between opposing forces, there have been no serious clashes.

MID-WEST STORM TOLL 50 LIVES

Three Hundred Found To Be Injured and Property Loss Is Millions—Checking Up After Worst Wind and Flood in 50 Years.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, April 18.—Throughout the vast basin drained by the Mississippi river, and its tributaries, an inventory is being made today of the toll of life and property taken by wind and flood in the most severe visitation of the elements this section has known in fifty years.

The record this morning showed fifty known dead, more than 300 injured, hundreds homeless and in some sections menaced by famine and damage to property almost incalculable, but certain to run into the millions. The death toll and the damage were expected to grow as wire communication to stricken areas are restored and relief agencies complete their inventories.

The tornado that bounced across Illinois and Indiana took the heaviest toll of life and property damage. Best available records today show the following fatalities:

Irrington, Ill., 7; Centralia, Ill., 4; Walnut Hill, Ill., 1; Lake Centralia, Ill., 1; Hildale, Ill., 2; Rose Hill, Ill., 1; Newton, Ill., 2; Odon, Ill., 2; Pithian, Ill., 1; Hedrick, Ind., 10; on farms near Hedrick, 5; Alexandria, Ind., 2; Brooks, Ind., 2; Orestes, Ind., 2; Summitville, Ind., 4; Williamsport, Ind., 2; Warsaw, Mo., 2.

In Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado, a blizzard raged. As far north as Regina and Moose Jaw in Saskatchewan, the blizzard covered the ground with a foot of snow that will delay planting of crops for several days.

Floods in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri still menace many communities and have inundated vast areas. Railroad facilities are crippled and telegraph and telephone wires are in a tangle that will take days to straighten out.

While the fury of the tornadoes apparently has passed, the flood danger is ever increasing. Reports from Beardstown, Ill., early today, said water was pouring through a break in the levee of the Illinois river and flooding the country for miles in every direction. Every building in Beardstown is flooded and the danger of famine became a very serious one today because of the blocking of railroads and highways to traffic. At East Peoria, Ill., fear is felt the dike there will break today, flooding many homes and stopping operation of industries employing thousands. Three hundred men are fighting the tide of a river that is still rising.

Appeals for aid have been sent out from the village of Liverpool, Ill., which is menaced by rising waters, residents of Naples, Ill., have been forced to flee from tents in which they had taken refuge from an earlier flood and are camped on a hillside. Scores have been forced from their homes at Carrolltown, and the river there is still rising. Nauvoo, Ill., has appealed to Evansville, Ind., for sandbags to build a levee about the town. It is feared that the Wabash River near Nauvoo will pass the high flood stage of 1912. Thousands of acres of farm lands near Vincennes, Ind., were inundated when the levee on the Illinois side of the Wabash, ten miles north, gave way.

Further south along the Mississippi, flood danger also exists. The Arkansas and White rivers are on a rampage and levees along the lower Mississippi are reported to be feeling the tremendous pressure of floods sweeping down from the north.

Relief organizations and hundreds of volunteers are at work today endeavoring to alleviate suffering.

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES SALES AT POST OFFICE.

Low Wallace, Jr., director of the U. S. Government Savings System at Washington has written Postmaster DeWitt as follows:

"Replying to your interesting letter of April 16th, I am forwarding under separate cover six additional copies of the poster and 250 additional pamphlets. If you need more material do not hesitate to call upon us and we will send it to you without delay.

"Your suggestions have been gladly received and we will have in a short time additional material for your use in furthering the sales of Treasury Savings Certificates. I am glad to know that you are receiving the support of our director at New York. This is a large task, and we are depending upon you to help us in the accomplishment of it. I stand ready at any time to assist you from here, and hope that you will not hesitate to call upon us.

"Thanking you for your interest and support, and with my best personal regards,"

The pamphlets mentioned will soon be placed in the hands of patrons. Meanwhile the sales of government securities at the post office are very satisfactory.

Tennis at San Francisco.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 18.—The East versus West tennis match will be held in San Francisco this year if, at present under consideration, matches, Charles S. Landers, president of the New York Tennis Association, made this statement today in announcing that the executive committee would meet tomorrow night to consider the matter in detail.

Betz Says He Didn't Order Stone For Arch

Van Keuren and Wood Placed the Order, After Consultation With Mayor Canfield—Mr. Betz Elaborates and Makes Specific the Statements in His Letter.

Architect Gerard W. Betz, who drew the plans for the Welcome Arch at the city limits on Albany Avenue, which was begun under the Canfield administration, contradicts the construction placed on his letter to Corporation Counsel Walter N. Gill, which was mentioned in The Freeman of Monday evening under the caption, "Betz Says He Ordered Bustone for Arch." Mr. Betz says he did not.

Mr. Betz's Statement.

To a reporter of The Freeman, Mr. Betz made the following statement:

"Mr. W. Scott Van Keuren, street superintendent, and Mr. L. B. Wood from the city engineer's office met with Mr. Round, representative of the stone company, at my office. We discussed the stone for the arch with Mr. Round. Then Mr. Van Keuren and Mr. Wood asked Mr. Round to wait in my office until they had seen Mayor Canfield. They returned and they ordered the stone from Mr. Round. This can be verified at the stone company's office."

The Stone Company's Letter.

Mr. Betz is informed that the Poughkeepsie Cast Stone Company notified Corporation Counsel Gill:

"In reply to your letter of March 22nd in regard to arch for the City of Kingston. We called at Mr. Betz's office at his request to figure the stone for this arch. There were present at this time two officials of the city of Kingston and we estimated this work at this time. We were notified after these officials had communicated with the mayor of your city that we were awarded the contract and so proceeded with this work. We would refer you to Mr. Betz for further information as he is in a position to know more about this than we are. We would again urge an early reply as the stone stored here is becoming more of an expense every day."

The letter of Architect Betz to Corporation Counsel W. N. Gill relative to the awarding of the contract for stone for the Albany Avenue arch, under date of March 22, 1922, is as follows:

"Answering your letter of March 22, regarding stone contract for the proposed arch on Albany Avenue, Kingston, N. Y.

"I received a telephone message from the secretary of the board of public works to be present at a special meeting called by the mayor at 10 o'clock the following morning to discuss various points regarding the proposed new arch on Albany Avenue. I went over the drawings with the mayor and the members of the board at the meeting and they decided to build the arch and notified me to proceed with the work and award the stone contract. I had received estimates for the stone from the Onondaga Litholite Company and the Poughkeepsie Cast Stone Company. The Poughkeepsie Cast Stone Company were cheaper. I telephoned the Poughkeepsie Cast Stone Company and made an appointment.

"A representative from the company called at my office and we went over the various changes. The street superintendent, Mr. Van Keuren, and Mr. Wood, from the city engineer's office, were present at the time. No charge was made by the Poughkeepsie Cast Stone Company for the changes.

"I asked Mr. Van Keuren and Mr. Wood to go to the mayor's office and discuss with him the result of our interview with the stone contractor.

"They returned shortly with instructions from the mayor to award the contract to the Poughkeepsie Cast Stone Company.

"If there is any further information you desire I will be glad to furnish you with same."

DEAD IN INDIANA STORM PLACED AT 20.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 18.—Twenty persons killed, more than 100 injured, and more than a million dollars' property loss, was the toll of terrible storms which ripped across Indiana yesterday, according to a survey made today.

The matter was dropped for several weeks and one day he was in the farm office when Storms called on the phone and asked for an appointment. He came over and told Mr. Winston he wanted to sell his farm. Mr. Winston told him he was interested in a part of the farm but did not want to buy all of the Storms place. Storms finally asked Mr. Winston to make him an offer for the whole place and Mr. Winston offered $9,500. This was finally accepted by Storms and a contract was drawn up, $1,000 paid down and title taken within 30 days when the full purchase price was paid.

George Kaufman appears for Mr. Speed and DuBois Gillette and Frank W. Brooks for defendant. Defendant claims that he did not agree to pay Mr. Speed 5 per cent commission when the place was sold to Winston.

MASONS ORGANIZE BUILDING ASS'N

Roundout Lodge, No. 348, Discharged Former Building Committee and Adopts New Plan At Meeting Monday—Second Degree Conferred On Class of Five.

Monday evening a Masonic Building Association, composed of five members of Roundout Lodge, No. 348, F. & A. M., was organized, and the former building committee of thirteen was discharged. The plan adopted Monday is to have the five members who were appointed incorporate and have full charge of the building plans of the lodge and to make reports of the work at frequent intervals.

The five members appointed are Charles H. Gregory, Harry A. Tromper, Harry H. Flemming, Munroe Barker and Louis Semon, Jr. They are given the authority to elect their own officers, and to raise funds to purchase a building lot and formulate plans for erecting a Masonic Temple in Kingston.

The new association it is expected will get in touch with Kingston Lodge, and discuss whatever plans are proposed.

At the meeting Monday the degree of fellowcraft was conferred on a class of five candidates, and at the close of the degree work the refreshment committee served clam chowder, cake, coffee and cigars and a social hour was enjoyed.

POOL SIGN MUST GO THE WAY OF THE BEER SIGN

After Sept. 1, Pool Rooms Will Be "Billiard Parlors."

After September 1, proprietors of billiard and pocket billiard rooms, formerly known as pool rooms, will be required to pay to the state a tax of $5.00 for each table for the license period of one year or fraction thereof. Governor Miller having approved the bill which inserts a new section in the penal law to provide for licensing them. Applications for licenses must be made to the state tax commission. Of the fees collected the commission will pay one-half into the state treasury and remit the other half to the city, village or town in which the business for which fees are collected, is carried on.

Proprietors are prohibited from allowing minors under 18 years of age to enter or remain in a billiard room unless accompanied by parent or legally appointed guardian. Another interesting provision of the new law provides that the word "pool" shall be discontinued as a descriptive word referring to a pocket billiard room or place and wherever the word "pool" appears on any window, sign, building or stationery, used for or in connection with a billiard or pocket billiard room or place, it must be changed to read "billiards" or "pocket billiards."

Another provision requires that the windows of billiard rooms afford unobstructed views of interiors. Violations of the law are punishable by a fine of $50 for the first offense, and for the second offense a fine of not to exceed $250 or imprisonment for 30 days or both, and revocation of the license and cancellation of the bond on which the license was issued.

The new law will not apply to cities of over 400,000.

THE OFFICE CAT

Once upon a time there was a man who told the boss that he was being paid too much money for the work he was doing.

It's a moral disgrace to go about with a scowl on your face when a smile can do so much good.

Slick Scheme.

"Our mamma is very kind to us. Every time we drink our cod liver oil without crying we get a dime each."

"And what do you do with the money?"

"Mamma buys more oil with it."

HUDSON TO REPRESENT LOCAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Appointed Councillor in National Chamber.

S. D. M. Hudson of Kingston has been appointed new national councillor for the Kingston Chamber of Commerce to represent that organization in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The National Council of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States consists of one representative each from the more than four hundred commercial and industrial organizations making up the national chamber's membership. It serves as an advisory body to the national chamber's board of directors. The council holds a special meeting preceding the annual convention of the national chamber to pass on the program and to select a nominating committee. The councillors also act as chairman of the delegations representing their organizations.

A councillor occupies a position of liaison officer between the national chamber and his own organization on important questions.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is the strongest commercial organization in the world. Its object is to encourage trade and commerce, increase the efficiency of American business organizations, to obtain uniformity and equity in business usages and laws and to get proper consideration and concentration of opinion on questions affecting the financial, commercial, civic and industrial interests of the country at large.

A system of referenda operated by the chamber has met with unusual success in obtaining the viewpoint of business men on national questions. These opinions, when they point to the need of legislation or other governmental action, are transmitted to the government's executive officers and to Congress by the national chamber's headquarters at Washington.

Bran Will Free Your Entire Family from Constipation!

EIGHT MILLION PEOPLE were admitted to the hospitals of America last year. Nine-tenths of the sickness can be traced to constipation! If every man, woman and child would eat Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, each day, nine-tenths of all sickness would be eliminated!

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is not a "remedy." It is nature's health food. Bran acts as a sweeper, at the same time cleansing and purifying without irritation or discomfort! Results are astounding!

Physicians endorse the use of Kellogg's Bran for constipation because it corrects constipation as a food—not as a "remedy." Your physician will tell you that the desirable way to relieve constipation is through food. We guarantee Kellogg's growth. Get it at your grocer's.

Bran will relieve constipation permanently if at least two tablespoonfuls are eaten regularly. Chronic cases should use as much more as necessary.

When Kellogg's Bran is eaten regularly it will also clear up a pimply complexion and sweeten the breath.

And, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is deliciously good! Kellogg's has an appetizing nut-like flavor, in crisp and adds zest to any food with which it is eaten. Or, it's just fine to eat as a cereal! Or sprinkle it over your favorite cereal! Kellogg's Bran is used in muffins, raisin bread, macaroons, pancakes and in a hundred other palatable ways—and all the time building health!

Start the children eating Kellogg's Bran. It will actually increase their sizeable way to relieve constipation is through food. We guarantee Kellogg's growth. Get it at your grocer's.

The Boy Who Started to Town With a Hundred Dollars

The advice they gave him for getting on in the world was simple and familiar enough: "Keep what you have, and build on it. Be careful what you do and it will grow into more."

It's a safe rule—with money or health, but a good many overlook the rule with health, until they have lost what they had. Then it's hard to get a new supply.

Postum is a splendid help in saving health from the very common losses through the drug elements of tea and coffee—whose effects on the nervous system any doctor can tell you.

Thousands of people who think it wise to be as careful of their health as they are of their dollars are users of Postum. They find this famous cereal beverage a delightful drink with any meal, and it's free from any disturbing element.

You can begin with Postum today, with an order to your grocer. The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow. "Save what you have, and build on it," is sound policy for everybody.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

Lawrence Sperry, of New York, has invented an "air jitney" which links at your favorite gas station, can travel 100 miles an hour, costs less than a Ford, and can land in the street that fronts your lawn. It weighs 500 pounds, and "parks" in your private garage.

Road Built on Sandy Shore.

By the use of sectional planking it was possible to build a stretch of reinforced concrete highway along the shore of Lake Michigan, east of Michigan City, on what is known as the Long Beach road extension. Starting at the central mixing plant, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, the contractor put down 2,000 feet of sectional planking; made up in sections 5 feet wide and 10 feet long, 2 by 6 inch boards being used for this purpose. He then had the wet concrete started from the mixing plant to the end of the walk, and as the road was laid, the duckboard was taken up and conveyed back to the mixing plant. When he had worked back to the mixing plant, he used the same planking, extending it 2,000 feet in the opposite direction and working back in the same manner.

Heligoland's Transformation.

When a syndicate of American and German capitalists finish warring the magic wand over Heligoland, the former grim waste next will assume the aspect of a most attractive bathing resort with a winter hotel, and a casino offering every facility for polite gambling. It is intended that Monte Carlo shall feel the competition.

A Quick Thinker.

"Speaking of alibis," said Jim Bottorf, who prosecutes the cases of the state of Indiana in the Clark Circuit court at Jeffersonville, and has sometimes been troubled by alibis which he distrusted but could not disprove, "I knew an old negro once—well, he sure was a quick thinker. This negro used to deal with a grocer named John Burnside, who had a store just north of Jeffersonville. One night the negro crawled through a small hole, only made for chickens, and when he crawled out a chicken went with him. Next day Burnside picked up the negro's grocery account book near the place the chicken had been and was not. He silently handed out the book to the negro who came later to make a purchase, and then said: 'I found it in the chicken house, uncle.' 'Yes, sah, yes, sah; suah, sah. 'Tee left it thar so's you could charge up the chicken, sah.'—Indianapolis News.

THE ORIENTAL SPORT SMOCK

Violette, a new and interesting material with the luster of silk, is used to great advantage in the creation of this sport suit. The wide sleeves lend a bit of the oriental to it. A hat of wool and straw completes the outfit.

CAPIES WIN FAVOR IN PARIS

Fashionable Dressers Wear Outer Garment on All Occasions—Knickerbockers Accepted Sport Fad.

The fashionable Parisienne wears capes on all occasions—youthful, swinging capes in bright-hued fabrics, wrap-around affairs, full length and clinging, or sturdy tweed and homespun for utility purposes. Knickerbockers, accompanied by the divided skirt worn with either jacket or cape are a widely accepted sport fad.

The short skirt cannot as yet be counted as a fashion discard, but the fashionable world is undeniably partial to the longer skirt; if not actually ankle length, it is made to appear so in many cases by the clever manipulation of the uneven hemline. In fact, there is a perceptible lengthening of all the lines of the new frock—the waistline is never found at normal, but is dropped several inches lower, near the hips, and loosely girdled; the modish shoulderline is long, and sleeves continue to grow in length and width.

There is an irresistible array of materials and colors worn for early spring—tulle and silk faille for the full-skirted basque frock, crepe de chine, crepe romaine, crepe faille, and georgette for the paneled and draped modes, and rough-weave woolsens for suits and street dresses. The colors most often seen are the sand shades, gray, black, copper, henna, jade green, orange and the light and dark blues—Ann Harrison Black, in the Designer.

PINK SHADES, SPRING MODE

Coquette One of the New Tints Promoted for Season of the Early Blossoms.

Pink shades promise to be much in the mode for spring, and among these coquette pink is spoken of as one of the new ones. Some French lingerie dresses shown in handkerchief linen and batiste are made in a deep rose shade of pink that is vastly becoming to the out-of-door complexion of the summer girl.

At the moment red is good for evening and the little semi-sport dresses that are shown in silks in various weaves have a leaning toward reds and vivid pinks.

The deep fuchsia tones have faded into heliotropes and orchids for spring and these colors are used in all types of dresses from the plain frock made of homespun, to evening modes, in pale orchid headed in darker bands of the same tone.

Matches the Wrap.

Pretty features of spring apparel for children, whether the material used is cotton or wool, is a hat or cap to match every dress or wrap. The same rule holds in regard to coats and hats. It is quite the thing to have a hat or cap to match every wrap. For example, a smart little coat of bright green velours is accompanied by a hat made of the same fabric trimmed simply with a fabric band about the crown and with a smart little upstanding feather at the back. The hat had a four-section crown and a stitched brim that rolled a trifle. The popular polo cloth must have its clever little tan, or hat with brim. English prints will be accompanied by matching sunbonnets of one style or another, or grandie frocks will have ruffled-brimmed chapeaux of the same fabric, and so on.

Overblouses Are Long.

The newest overblouse development is a little less than three-quarters length, quite full and gathered at the waistline, with tailored or split peasant sleeves.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

In the course of his recent speech in the House of Commons in exposition and defense of the Genoa conference policy, Premier Lloyd George made the following graphic statement:

"If the European countries had gathered together their mobile wealth in one pyramid and set it on fire the result could hardly have been more complete as far as the capital wealth of Europe is concerned."

This terse statement comprises a sweeping description of one of the chief underlying conditions of the present time. Destruction of such a large accumulation of capital cannot be effected without incurring a debt that all humanity must pay. The annihilation of so much of the wealth of Europe affects each of us in our daily lives to-day.

We are helping pay the debt incurred through destroyed capital.

And herein lies a powerful lesson in thrift.

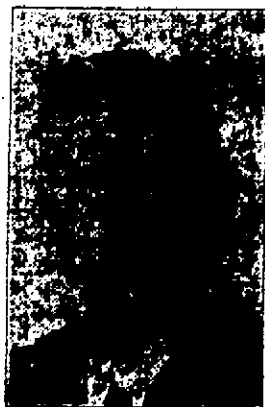

Whatever is wasted must be regained through careful saving. The economic equilibrium can be restored only through the process of thrift.

What is thrown away today, figuratively speaking must be restored to-morrow through thrift. This is a truth that applies alike to the gravest problems of world-wide economics and to the personal experiences of every individual.

The young man who wastes his income in merely having a good time cannot escape the penalty of his extravagances. A man more than all mankind has been able to escape the indebtedness incurred through the destruction of capital during the war.

Let us understand more and more the fact that the practice of thrift is a necessity, and that neglect of it involves penalties that cannot be avoided.

To encourage practices of thrift is not merely to utter theories of correct living and codes of personal conduct, but it embodies certain irrevocable laws. Thrift too often is alluded to as a mere minor virtue. Not frequently enough is it looked upon as a fundamental necessity. Waste under any circumstance at any time involves penalties that must be paid.

Country Life More Desirable.

A grocer in Des Moines talks to his country customers by radio-phonograph, giving them prices on staple goods. They spread the news to their neighbors, who also take advantage of his special sales, Capper's Weekly observes. It will soon be commonplace for a farmer and his family to listen to the music of a great band or orchestra playing in Chicago, New York, St. Louis, St. Paul or Denver, while they sit in the living room after the evening meal. In a year or two, possibly, some other wizard inventor will make it possible to see a first night production of a great play on Broadway, while the ear hears the spoken words. There is less and less reason for wishing to live in a city. When the airplane is made absolutely safe, there will be a great exodus from the cities to the country.

Respectful Silence.

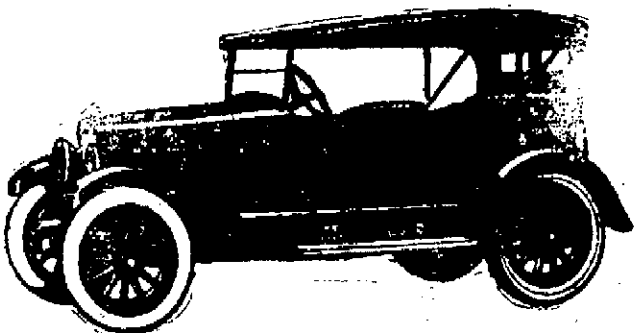

"Can you sing 'The Star Spangled Banner' all the way through?" "I can," replied Senator Borah, "but I never attempt it in public. The way some of us make that splendid anthem sound is no way for a man to show his patriotism."

Mean Much to Nature Lover.

The bird upon the tree utter the meaning of the wind—a voice of the grass and the wild flower, words of the green leaf; they speak through that slender tone. Nor is it necessary that it should be a song; a few short notes in the sharp spring morning are sufficient to stir the heart.—Jeffries.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 18, 1922.

In signing the bill establishing children's courts, Governor Miller said it is much better to spend money on the child than on the convict. By taking the child in time it can be saved in many instances from going to any institution later.

Appropriating $1,000,000 for the relief of needy veterans was doing something of which all people will approve. Governor Miller signed the bill and by putting his signature to it veterans who are now in distress will receive some comfort. The purpose of the Governor was to have it so framed that the administration of the law would be prompt.

Riding around on a tractor produces much more than riding around in many four-wheeled vehicles. It may be rough riding in spots but results are what count. The tractor may not be so attractive as some equipages but it has just as important a place in the world's progress and is, perhaps, more vital to the needs of man than some of the seven passenger cars that cost ten times as much. The fact is, too, we are thinking more of what the tractor produces just now than we are of what is produced by the limousine.

Baseball and fishing will occupy as much of our attention for a while as politics, but after a while we will come back to politics. Strange as it seems, we are never happy doing anything for more than a few minutes at a time, figuratively speaking. Baseball is here now in earnest inasmuch as the big league games are on, and vacation being in sight all hands will be getting out their fishing rods before long. Both offer lots of fun and recreation, while one is the noisiest of sports and the other the quietest of pastimes.

It will be only a few days now before all hands will be asking what time it is. Nobody will know because it will be different in various sections. The best thing to do will be to forget it and not worry. There may be some good things about "day-light saving" and there may be some disturbing elements but the people will never think alike. So if those of different sections want individual time it is up to them. If we can figure on the proper time to eat, so we won't miss any of our meals we may manage to live through it somehow.

INDIVIDUAL EFFORT.

Richard W. Lawrence, one of the publishers of Printer's Ink, and one of the best thinkers of the Republican party, nationally and in the state, says the day of individual effort is here again and the people to get back on their feet and on the road to permanent security must look to themselves and not to governmental agencies. Mr. Lawrence was one of the speakers before the Chamber of Commerce of Springfield, Mass., and what he said was endorsed by commercial, industrial and labor interests of the progressive New England commonwealth.

In every sentence he uttered there was a ring of optimism, his conclusion being that America was too big and too strong and too loyal to let any one element or number of elements check its progress or prevent it from maintaining a position as the leading nation of the world. Referring to some of the unsettled conditions due to the war, Mr. Lawrence said the war was over and it was now up to the business interests not to look to various federal agencies or different boards for a solution of their business problems, but to solve them from a common sense standpoint, using their own initiative in the process of development.

That there had been a tendency to rely upon exterior auxiliary influences Mr. Lawrence regretted, saying that business must work out its own future, that the government could not and should not be called into private business, that there had been too much government in business and not enough business in government. "It is up to us," said Mr. Lawrence, "and with the administration of national affairs being conducted economically and intelligently the example has a far-reaching effect."

"Individual effort teaches us to rely on ourselves rather than rely on the government. Get the government to do this, that and any other thing is a dangerous practice," said Mr. Lawrence, "and that we have seen the danger of it is what points a way to a quick solution of those problems which have confronted us but which are being relieved every day, due to the spirit of the American people, including the man at the desk as well as the man in the ditch, and the man in the bank as well as the man on the bank."

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Do skunks and coons breed the first year?

Yes. So do rabbits. That is, the skunks and coons breed for the first time in the spring following their own birth.

2. What sort of nesting box should I provide for house wrens?

The main point is to have the entrance hole not over an inch in diameter (in keeping out English sparrows), and in the upper half of the front wall. Hang from 6 to 8 feet high. Old tomato cans can be used, by replacing the cut-out end with a circular piece of board. Gourd halves have been tried, and pictures have been taken of wren-houses, made of broken teapots, old molasses jugs, small paint kegs—almost anything "from a boot to a bomb-shell" as Mr. Burroughs says will attract them.

3. I would like to know a kind of tree that cattle will not probably bother, so I can grow trees in a wet part of my pasture that is unsuited to other planting. Willows and poplars do well, but the cattle eat the young shoots.

The best we can suggest is the long-spine thorn (Crataegus macracantha), and the cattle will eat the twigs even of this. But in time the lateral branches will probably push out and make a thorny hedge. When this is established, other trees could be planted in spots protected by the thorn trees. Our correspondent wrote from South Dakota, and this tree is native to that state. Evergreens are not popular for grazing, owing to bitter taste.

Skin Disorders on face—fresh yeast rids you of them

It is well known that blemishes and blackheads (acne) and boils are often caused by errors of diet.

Fleischmann's Yeast is now being recommended for these embarrassing and painful skin troubles because fresh yeast corrects the errors of diet which cause them.

The surgeon of one important New York hospital states: "I have used yeast extensively and found it invaluable in curing boils." When 17 cases of skin blemishes were treated with Fleischmann's Yeast at the hospital in New York and Philadelphia the results were remarkable. A typical case was a young man who had suffered from skin disorders for three years. He ate three cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily. In five weeks the eruption had cleared completely.

If you are troubled with eruptions or boils, begin at once to correct them by using for 30 days Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals. Be sure to use Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

BIG DOINGS AT ST. MARK'S CHURCH

Wednesday Night Will Occur the Fourth Annual Donation to the Pastor, the Rev. A. L. Hughes—There Will be a Chicken Dinner and a Concert.

There will be big doings Wednesday evening at St. Mark's A. M. E. Church on Foxhall avenue, when the fourth annual donation to the pastor, the Rev. A. L. Hughes, will be held. The event also marks the pastor's 55th birthday, which, while it occurred on April 15, will be celebrated Wednesday evening.

The event will also mark the close of the pastor's fourth year as head of the church. The New York Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church will meet May 24 at New Rochelle and the congregation are asking for the return of Mr. Hughes to the pastorate of the Foxhall Avenue Church.

There will be an exceptionally fine program that evening, and invitations have been extended to Mayor Crane, the common council and other city officials to be present. A chicken dinner will be served from noon to 1 o'clock. The church is open from 10 to 11 o'clock. Addresses and there will be a special musical program.

BIG INDIAN.

Big Indian, April 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Alex McKenzie of Yonkers and family arrived at their summer home last Friday.

A. Alex and Floyd Garrison motored to New York city Saturday. Mrs. Margaret Gleary is spending the week at George W. Lament's.

Mrs. John Van Valkenburg of Oliveira were calling on friends in this place Friday. George Andrews of Napanoch, who is at home for Easter vacation, has been calling at friends' Saturday.

Mr. Kellenberger and son spent last week at their summer home. It seems quite encouraging to have our new road commissioner, Ed Rowe, start road repairing on the Oliveira road, which certainly was very much needed.

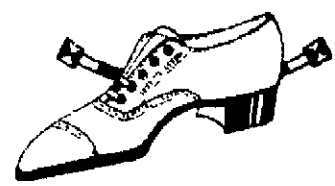

Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

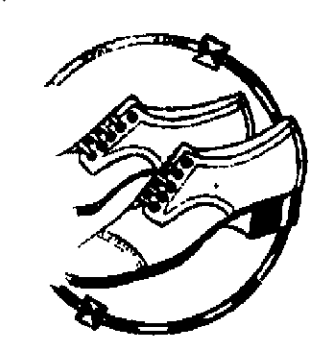

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup of glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

Shoes More Than Fashionable

Fashion has swung to the round, comfort shoe and the low heel. These are important elements of comfort and foot efficiency, but the most important one element—the flexible arch—is not to be had with the round toes and low heels of ordinary shoes. And the flexible arch is the achievement of modern shoe design.

In the Cantilever Shoe you will find besides the fashionable type of heel and toe, an arch that is flexible like your own. This shoe arch flexes with every step you take. It draws up when you lace the shoe to furnish just the degree of support each one of your arches needs. The unrestricted action of your foot strengthens its muscles through exercise, prevents and corrects arch weakness, and makes you feel and look more vigorous.

If you would know the supreme comfort of the stylishly rounded toe, the low heel and the flexible arch, slip your feet into Cantilevers. They are good-looking shoes, well made of choice materials, reasonably priced, and so easy on your feet that they are more than fashionable.

Uncle Sam to Use Moral Suasion on Land-Stealing Rivers.

NEBRASKA GENIUS SHOWS WAY

His Retard System of Deeply-Sunk Piles and Tree Buffers Has Convinced the Experts—Loot Along One Branch of the Missouri River Amounted to 10,940 Acres in Three Years—Mr. Woods Explains System to Committee of Congress.

Uncle Sam has decided to use moral suasion on his land-stealing rivers. He believes that, given an opportunity, they can be made to conduct themselves in an orderly manner. His plan for taming them was brought to Washington by Mark W. Woods of Lincoln, Neb., the man who decided that the way to reform the Missouri, most lawless of rivers, was to cooperate with it instead of fighting it.

Army engineers were impressed by Mr. Wood's method and persuaded him to present the matter to the house rivers and harbors committee and the senate commerce committee—the two committees having direct supervision of river improvements. Mr. Woods admits that he isn't much of a speaker, so he expected to "say it with pictures."

A movie firm made snapshot pictures of the work being done along the Missouri and Mr. Woods brought them to Washington to show the committee what the farmers of Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and South Dakota are doing to control the Missouri. They have not asked for a cent of federal money, but are doing the work themselves and intend to continue doing it.

Experts Convinced. Mr. Woods told the committees that it could be done elsewhere. In fact, railroads are using it to protect their bridges in the Miami valley of Ohio. It is also to be used in the harbor improvements at Jamaica bay.

Senator Wesley L. Jones (Rep., Wash.), chairman of the senate commerce committee says the Woods plan will solve a problem that has been costing the nation millions of dollars annually. Senator Randall (Dem., Louisiana), also was enthusiastic over it. Gen. John J. Pershing recently spent an entire day watching the installation of the new type of protection works on the Missouri and he said he knew of no greater piece of reconstruction along the Missouri.

The plan is now being used on the Sacramento river in California and soon will be extended to the Brazos and Rio Grande rivers in Texas and to the Black river and to the Red river of the North.

The Missouri river long has been a vexing problem. The government sent an engineer out to look it over. For three years he camped along the stream and watched its actions. In those three years, he reported, it ate away between Sioux City and St. Louis 10,940 acres of the richest land in that fertile valley and has taken additional property tolls of millions from towns, cities and railroads along its banks.

The government has spent some money in the old style rock revetments, which have proved unsatisfactory, for that system was very costly and was by no means permanent.

The Hydraulic Pile.

Two or three years ago Mr. Woods bought a farm of 6,000 acres in Nebraska. When he went out to look it over he found the Missouri river munching it off at about the rate of eight rods a day. He thought he needed the land worse than the Missouri river needed it, he told the senate commerce committee, and so he began to figure out a way to keep it. He heard of a man who had invented a hydraulic pile, which, it was claimed, could be driven to bedrock. The rock revetments had been quickly washed out and obviously the thing to do was to find something that could be sunk below any possible danger of a scour. Mr. Woods hunted up the man, investigated his invention and made arrangements to give it a trial.

Woods then purchased the necessary equipment and hydraulically sunk the piles to bedrock. To each pile was attached six cables, each an inch in diameter, and to these cables were attached forest trees. In the ordinary retard, 100 feet long, four piles are used, and from 500 to 700 trees of the unmerchantable type found along many streams in the country. These trees were made to form a brushpile lying at right angles to the bank from the bottom of the river to the top, and securely held in place by the piles.

Doesn't Deflect the Current.

This method does not deflect the current, but simply retards it, causing it to unload the sand and silt that the water is carrying. In a short time the retard forms a sand-bar along the cutting bank. As the trees do not rot under water the river can never cut at this particular place again. On the Missouri it has been shown that a series of these retards will protect any bend in the river from further erosion.

Twenty-four hours after Mr. Woods had put in his retard the cutting along his land was filling back. Day by day the Missouri poured its silt on the retard, building the land up again, and it is now being farmed. This triumph over the Missouri attracted attention and it began to be generally followed along the river. The board of army engineers dispatched Brigadier General Faggett to observe its workings. General Faggett's report to Maj. Gen. Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers, U. S. A., and Brig. Gen. Harry Taylor, board of engineers for rivers and harbors, impressed them, and General Taylor suggested that the drainage district laws of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and South Dakota be amended so as to permit of this kind of improvement. The legislatures took action at their first sessions. A number of other states are contemplating changes in their drainage laws.

The interest of General Beach in the matter was aroused by the fact that each year erodions from the banks of the Missouri have put down a cube of earth a mile square at the mouth of the Mississippi, which had to be dredged out to continue navigation, but he had no money with which to aid the work.

Plans an Immense Saving. Government officials here now believe that approximately 600,000 acres of bar land lying up against cities like Omaha, Kansas City, Sioux City, St. Joseph and St. Louis can be reclaimed by the retard system.

Any stream that erodes its bank or carries silt can be successfully dealt with by the retard system in use on the Missouri river. Representative Ben G. Humphries of Mississippi, member of the committee on rivers and harbors, believes.

In Omaha these piles, driven to bedrock, halted the menace of the Missouri to an industrial district and saved more than $15,000,000 worth of property. At St. Louis the water has been switched around by this same retard system. Altogether 179,075 acres of land along the Missouri has now been protected. Farmers of the West have been doing the work of reclamation themselves and have not called on the federal government for aid. More than $700,000 is being spent in Missouri alone.

Representative Ellis (Rep., Mo.) said that the plan not only stopped erodions, but by confining the current to a narrower channel caused it to deepen its own channel.

Followed a Natural Law.

"We have never lost a single retard," Woods answered. "The piles, which ordinarily are 20 feet long and 14 inches square and weigh 5,000 pounds, are sunk by hydraulic pressure to depths as great as 111 feet. To the steel cables are attached trees. We are simply following the law of nature. Every island in the Missouri river was formed by some tree snagging and lodging. If it stayed a year it created a sand bar. If it stayed two years it created an island. We are now having it build up useful land instead of cutting away good land and building up islands that are an impediment to navigation."

The board of army engineers has begun to use retards on the upper Mississippi to narrow its channel to a width of 1,200 feet, thus making its current cut a deeper channel. The work costs about one-third as much as the old style revetment system and is permanent, which the revetments are not.

Several railroads in Texas and Oklahoma running near or across shallow rivers with wide valleys are preparing to put in the new system, committees of congress have been informed. One of these rivers, the Canadian, running across the Texas Panhandle and into Oklahoma, has a habit of tearing down bridges and stopping railroad transportation at intervals.

The Unruly Brazos.

The Brazos, in Texas, where the system is to be tried out at once, is another handier river, robbing farmland. Now the retards are to be installed along its banks.

The government has no faith in levees for such rivers as the Brazos, which flows directly into the Gulf and is subject to freshets. Many farmers have had their life savings washed away in Brazos freshets. It is estimated that this river does damage amounting to $1,000,000 yearly.

LONG HOG DRIVE IN SNOW

Ranchman in Bad Lands Had Some Trouble, but Finally Started.

Jesse Speck, a rancher in the Big Bad Lands in South Dakota, has just completed a hog drive that is likely to stand as a record for some time.

He started from his ranch with 200 hogs in prime condition, to drive them to scenic S. D. for shipment. As the roads were in bad condition from drifted snow, and the distance to scenic is 35 miles, Speck had difficulty in getting the necessary number of cowboys to turn hog drivers, but he finally got started.

The drive required ten days, through almost insurmountable obstacles, and when the one-time prize hogs arrived there they were hungry, thin, sick and nearly frozen.

Speck and his helpers had found it necessary to continually prod, push, coax, bully and plead with the unwilling porkers to make time. Hogs which averaged 200 pounds on starting weighed in on arrival at less than an average of 125 pounds.

Organist Plays as Church Burns.

While the church was blazing over his head, R. S. Traub, of Newark, N. J., played the organ in the St. Paul's Episcopal church. Firemen entered the church before the organist realized there was a fire. The bell, the organ, and most of the roof were destroyed.

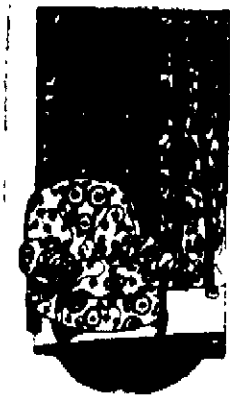

"Fifty-four Forty, or Fight."

"Fifty-four Forty, or Fight" was a cry adopted during the northwestern boundary discussion by those who disapproved of yielding our claims to the territory short of 54 degrees 40 minutes of latitude between the Rocky mountains and the Pacific ocean.

DECAY RESULT OF WARFARE

Fate of Athens and Florence in a Manner Duplicated by Results of Recent Conflict.

There are two shining glories in human history, Athens and Florence. Their respective titles, the one "The City of the Violet Crown," the other "The City of the Lily," figure their beauty. To explain them may be impossible, but to admire them is salutary. Both illustrate the possibilities of the human spirit, and both are tragedies.

Lorenzo di Medici, called the Magnificent, died in the last decade of the Fifteenth century, and with him died the golden age of the Italian renaissance, as at Athens centuries before had died Pericles, the largest minded man that ever ruled a state. True, after Athens' fall there came Plato and Aristotle, as after Lorenzo's death there lived half way through the Sixteenth century the two Florentines, Leonardo da Vinci and Michelangelo Buonarroti. Sunsets look more splendid than high noons.

But the Athens of Pericles and the Florence of Lorenzo were done. Their magnificent flowering was succeeded in either case by withering stalks. Literally there was nipped in the bud the fairest promise that human history supplies.

The moralists have chorused that the failure was moral, as if beauty and intellect were fatally vicious, and goodness must necessarily somehow be associated with ugliness and stupidity. Degeneration does not explain Athens' fall, nor the Florentine decadence. What does so is war. Brute violence killed in both cases the fairest flower of all civilization.

Our modern world was come in the year 1914 to a surpassing pitch of welfare, from which it has been cast down into a ditch by war. And those who fancy we are going soon and easily to scramble out of that ditch, deceive themselves with foolish optimism. There will not be such diffused welfare as prevailed before August, 1914, for many a decade to come. Such welfare indeed may never return, not even here in America.—Minneapolis Journal.

Pastor's Tough Job.

Speaking about unemployment, it is surprising to learn that 32,000 churches in the United States are without pastors and that theological colleges graduated only 1,400 new ministers last year.

With more than 38,000 jobs open, it is plain that something must be the matter with the jobs, and we suspect that it is the pay. Glenn M. Farley writes in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. Outside of a few comfortable jobs for the talented clergy the vocation is unquestionably a lemon, so far as pay goes—but while the clergyman's head may be in the air, his feet are on the ground and he must be sustained materially to do his work.

Father ought to have more sense of obligation about the churches. Even if his own theories do not fall in with religion he must see that our whole system of civilized, decent, honorable and honest living is sustained and encouraged by religion; and some day, when he finishes his little race and is about ready to take his departure from this organized fight that we call life, he will wonder if a clergyman cannot do him some little good in his last hours, perhaps send for the underpaid and patient pastor and ask him for a clean bill of health for his long voyage into the unknown. And think of what a job that is!

Here is shown a remarkable photograph of a typical coal mining settlement in Harrison County, West Virginia, where striking miners still reside in houses erected and owned by the operators. The annual tonnage of coal from this section is about 20,000,000 tons. There are about 550 mines in the region employing about 20,000 men. None of the mines have operated since April 1, when the nation-wide strike of coal miners was called.

BURGEVIN GUARDS CENTRAL PARK

Expected to Prevent Sculptors' Exhibition if It Will Let Down Gates to Other Enterprises for General Exhibition Purposes.

Julius V. Burgevin, formerly of this city and brother of George and David Burgevin, will prevent the proposed exhibition of the National Sculpture Society in Central Park, New York City, if on examination of the plan it seems to him that the exhibition will be the entering wedge for the invasion of the park, over which he has certain control by virtue of his position as landscape architect for the New York City Department of Parks.

According to the New York Times, Mr. Burgevin, although making it clear that he did not wish to prejudice the application of the sculptors, said that any permit which might act as a precedent for allowing Central Park to be used as an exhibition place would be opposed by him. "I am not prepared to discuss the merits or demerits of the sculpture society's proposal," he said, "before I can do that I want to see the plans and consider every phase of the matter. But I will have to be convinced that the proposed exhibition will be of great advantage to the city and that it will neither injure the park by actual use during the period of the exhibition nor by the precedent."

Preliminary consent to the exhibition had been given by Park Commissioner Francis D. Galatin before the matter came before Mr. Burgevin, whose consent also is necessary under the New York charter, and Mr. Galatin had asked the committee of the National Sculpture Society to have detailed plans prepared. A landscape architect has been engaged by a committee of the society and it is expected that a sketch of the layout for the exhibition, which calls for cutting up the Central Meadow immediately north of the Metropolitan Museum of Art into temporary paths, will be submitted within five or six weeks. Various societies interested in the preservation of the parks for park purposes have begun an inquiry into the proposed exhibition, and many of the individuals identified with these organizations have expressed opposition to the scheme.

After the detailed plans have been sent to the park commissioner, they will have to be submitted to Mr. Burgevin. If he disapproves of the plan, the sculptors' efforts to get Central Park for their exhibition will be blocked.

"The sculptors' exhibition may have good educational advantages," Mr. Burgevin said, "but the price to the public would be too great if it is going to result in the invasion of the parks by every society that wishes to hold such an affair. I do not wish to do something which in future years may be pointed to as the breaking down of the barrier that has protected the parks for the public."

Asked about Commissioner Galatin's suggestion that the exhibition would be a demonstration of a formal garden, such as the commissioner said had been provided in the original plan for the section by Olmstead and Vaux, who laid out Central Park, Mr. Burgevin said the formal garden had been planned for the site of the present Conservatory Lake, between Seventy-third and Seventy-fifth streets, on the Fifth Avenue side. The area north of the Metropolitan Museum, which is at Eighty-fifth street and Fifth Avenue, is of an entirely different character.

"The formal garden was never put in," said Mr. Burgevin, "and while I do not know the reason for leaving it out, my belief is that it was decided that it was better to have the natural landscape features."

Asked whether the plan of Olmstead and Vaux called for any sculpture, Mr. Burgevin said: "No, the plan was for a formal flower garden. And it is my belief that whoever is responsible for its omission was right."

Mr. Burgevin's numerous Kingston friends who are aware of the vast improvement which Mr. Burgevin has brought about in the New York City parks during his connection with them under the successive administrations of Mayor Gaynor, Mayor Mitchell and Mayor Hylan, will fully appreciate the care with which he will examine any plan which might lead to invasion of the parks for general exhibition purposes. He has guarded them jealously against all attempts to use them for private purposes and their present beauty and condition are largely traceable to his untiring efforts.

W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE
AT MILTON, MAY 3

The Ulster County Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold their annual Institute at Milton in the Presbyterian Church on May 3 and 4. Milton local union will entertain all delegates and visitors. Meals will be served in the Community House.

A very good program is being prepared and will shortly be published. Mrs. Frances W. Graham of Lockport, N. Y., national musical director, will conduct the institute and address the popular evening session of the Institute.

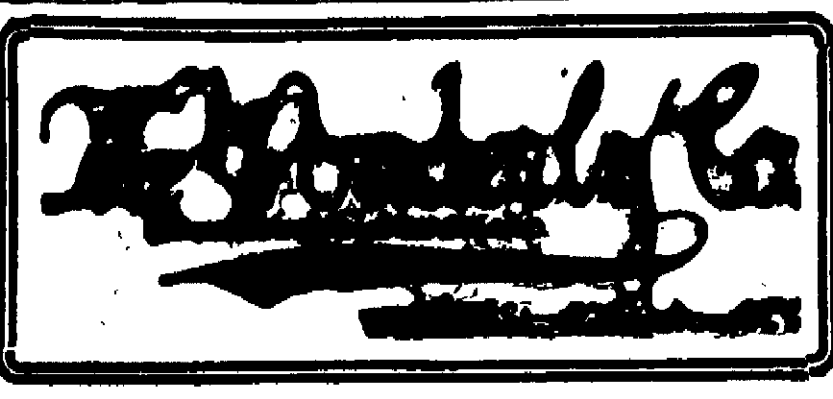

Miss Amelia Greenwald, of New York City, organizer and director of work for women on the farm for the council of Jewish women will address the Institute on "The Immigrant Woman on the Farm."

With the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment, the W. C. T. U. gave larger place to some of their departments of work, among them being Americanization, which will be given special attention on this occasion.

A Sound Investment in a Local Enterprise

In choosing investment bonds, the wise investor prefers the issues of permanently prosperous enterprises rather than those which are influenced by temporary business conditions.

The business of electric light and power companies is practically independent of fluctuations caused by economic conditions. Light, Heat and Power are necessities of modern life. Whether general business is good or bad, the public demand for these essentials shows a steady growth. That is why their bonds stand forth as a most desirable investment.

LEAGUE MAR. MILK BROUGHT $1.65

February Report Just Issued Shows
Immense Amount of Business Being Done by Co-operative Association.

The Dairyman's League Co-operative Association announces its pooled price for March at $1.65 per hundred. From this sum 5c per hundred is deducted for various expenses. $1.60 per hundred will be disbursed by check on April 25th, and 5c per hundred pounds will be borrowed by the association for purchasing of milk plants and equipment. For this 20c certificates of indebtedness are issued, maturing in five years and drawing interest at 6 per cent. Prices are for milk containing 3 per cent butter-fat and at the 201-210 mile zone. Prices to each farmer vary with the amount of butter-fat contained and the distance from the market.

A detailed report is issued by the association, showing the amount and disposal of milk and other dairy products handled by it for the month of February. Similar detailed reports are issued each month to every pooler. The total sales for February of milk and dairy products handled by the Co-operative Association amount to $5,187,540.86. The association through its own plants sold milk and other dairy products for the month of February amounting to $649,421.75. In evaporated milk alone the association sold $128,871.01 worth to the domestic trade, and $7,759.60 worth were exported. In its own plants the association handled and sold $198,244.85 worth fluid milk. These figures will give some small idea of the immense amount of work and business that the Dairyman's League Co-operative Association is doing monthly.

75% OF HOUSEWIVES SOAK EVERYDAY CLOTHES

What does soaking mean to you? Three out of every four housewives always loosen the dirt by letting the clothes soak before they start washing.

With the ordinary soaps, this helped a little but there was still a lot of rubbing to be done. Rinso, an entirely new kind of soap, loosens and dissolves every bit of dirt, without the slightest injury to the clothes. Soak your clothes an hour or more in Rinso and the dirt rinses right out, all but the most stubborn places and those need only a light rubbing.

Rinso is the only soap you need for the entire regular family wash. You don't need any other soap—nor any washing powder with Rinso. Women who are using it say their clothes are spotless and last longer.

B. Shoninger Co., Big Piano Manufacturer of New Haven, Locates Factory Branch Here at 297 Wall Street—Second Floor

THE PEOPLE OF KINGSTON AND VICINITY WILL BE GIVEN A PIANO BUYING EVENT THAT WILL MARK A NEW ERA IN PIANO SELLING IN GOOD OLD KINGSTON

OUR PIANO SHOW ROOMS OPEN 10 O'CLOCK WEDNESDAY. DON'T MISS THE SURPRISE BARGAINS ALLOTTED FOR OPENING DAY, 297 WALL STREET, SECOND FLOOR

B. SHONINGER COMPANY

At the corner of Chapel and Chestnut streets in New Haven is to be found one of America's great piano factories.

Bernard Shoninger, the builder and founder of the piano that bears his celebrated name established in the beginning a most enviable reputation in the music industry of his time.

72 years has brought us to the third generation and we find through the passing of the years the principles of high standard that so highly characterize the founder has been maintained onto the present day.

B. Shoninger Company's large factory output and their "Factory to Home Plan" through their factory branch warehouses located here which is one of sixteen, make it possible for you, Mr. Piano Buyer, to own a fine Piano at a Live and Let Live Price.

The Shoninger Pianos are the product of a high idealism of tone perfection. The first glance at a Shoninger Piano and you are impressed with the general beauty of its case design.

While the lines are plain there is an attractiveness about the Shoninger that appeals to one's sense of suppressed beauty.

It is the tone of the Shoninger Piano that appeals most to those who happen to know this truly wonderful Piano. They are sold to those who are more concerned about tone and durability.

To such who will take the time to study the Shoninger tone we have no fear as to the Piano they will select for their home.

BRANCH WAREHOUSE LOCATION

At 297 Wall street, second floor, your city, is the location of the Factory Branch for Kingston.

Here Wednesday at 10 o'clock we celebrate the anniversary of our 72 years in business. Only recently we decided to sell our Pianos direct to homes in Kingston and the great saving afforded the buyer is best told in the fact that buyers literally crowded our stores in the other 34 towns where we opened branch warehouses as we are doing here. Certainly you have never had the opportunity to make your dollars count for so much as we now shall offer you.

TELL YOUR FRIEND.

Send a copy of this paper, phone or write your kinsman or friend who may need a piano. The Big Saving in price NOW offered on one of the really Fine Pianos comes once in a lifetime. They will long remember you for the favor of calling their attention to this offering. Do it today!

BUYING MADE EASY

The B. Shoninger Company with its Big Factory in full blast working to full capacity, not only lessens the cost of manufacturer; but their open policy of allowing you to buy direct still further cuts the cost to the buyer and owner.

This open door policy of Factory to Home right in walking distance of you will certainly be welcomed by intended buyers of pianos and player pianos.

You not only are benefited by a Big Saving in prices but you get Factory Service, Factory Protection, under our guarantee. The maker is right at your door.

Our reputation is your satisfaction. We are right here face to face with you. Think it over! Then come!

THE SHONINGER PIANO MEANS

To the home that would only be satisfied with a real piano—a piano of musical merit, and have held off buying on account of price. This chance comes like a rainbow of hope from the darkest cloud of despair.

It opens the door of opportunity for you to own just such a piano as you would make for yourself if you were the manufacturer of Fine Pianos.

Plenty of time to pay will be given any reliable person who is not in a position to pay cash. In fact "Our Easy Payment Plan" has been widely commented upon. Now the only thing you need to do is to be on hand opening day. The time is here, Piano and Price and Payments. You have no further excuse. Act at once!

PRICE VALUES

Pianos and Player Pianos are going to be sold at a saving to you of $150, $175 and $225. Special surprise markings in price will be arranged on a certain Piano on our opening day.

Be on hand early and ask to see No. 72 (that's our age this year) 72 years in business.

Many homes are going to be made the brighter and happier.

If you prefer a Player Bargain ask for "Bernard" another in honor of the founder of the House of Shoninger.

Be on hand the opening day. Don't miss the fun!

SHOOTS WIFE AND SELF IN CROWD

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 18.—In full view of the early morning throng of business-bound workers, Frank Muller, 28, of Brooklyn, shot his wife, Elsie, 24, and then turned the gun on himself. The shooting took place on a crowded subway platform. Muller was dead when an ambulance reached the hospital. Surgeons say his wife probably will die.

The shooting caused a panic and there was a general rush to get out of range of the bullets. After the pair had fallen they were carried to the street level by spectators.

The shooting, police learned, followed an all-night quarrel in a down town hotel where the couple had met to discuss their marital troubles which had caused a four-year separation.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, April 18.—The Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed Church met at the home of Mrs. Robert Hotelling on Salem street this afternoon. There was a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schroeder and son John and daughter Marian, of New York City, and Miss Elizabeth Milton of Corona, L. I., were motor guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lapine on Green street Sunday.

Miss Cleon Elsworth of Rye, N. Y., is spending her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Elsworth, on Broadway.

A meeting of the Dorcas Society will be held this evening at the home of Miss Alice Neice on Broadway. Miss Cleon Elsworth and Miss Neice will be the hostesses of the evening.

Esopus Council, No. 12, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet in their council room Wednesday evening, April 19, at 8 o'clock.

Port Ewen Lodge, No. 526, I. O. O. F. will meet this evening in their rooms in Pythian Hall, at 8 o'clock.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, April 18.—A mother and two children who were spending their first night in their new home, were burned to death early today when fire swept the apartment house. The superintendent was unaware they were in the building and after arousing four other families, believed all were safe. Later, three charred bodies were found in the debris.

Mrs. Florence Helms, 23, and her two children, Harold, 5, and Florence, 3, were the victims. Mrs. Helms yesterday moved a bed into the otherwise unfurnished apartment in anticipation of moving in the rest of her furniture today. Mrs. Helms's husband is a traveling salesman for a Boston musical instrument firm. Her father, Charles Sherwood is a Boston newspaper man.

MORVICH BECOMES EVEN MORE OF A FAVORITE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, April 18.—The odds lightened on Morvich, favorite for the Kentucky Derby today following the great colt's sensational workout at Jamaica yesterday, when he reeled off a half mile in 18 seconds, one-fifth of a second faster than the American record. The time was a full second faster than the distance had ever been run on the Metropolitan track, and almost two seconds faster than any time ever made at Jamaica, a notorious slow track.

Indications are that the odds on the Morvich colt will fall as low as 2 to 1 before the end of the week.

FITZSIMMONS ANNOUNCES HE'S MATCHED CHAMPIONS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Michigan, City, Ind., April 18.—Three world champion boxers will show their wares here during the summer under auspices of Floyd Fitzsimmons, local promoter. Fitzsimmons announced today.

Benny Leonard will appear on July 4, against an opponent yet to be selected; Jack Britton, welterweight champion, will meet an adversary on August 5, and Jack Dempsey, king of the heavies, has agreed to be back from his European trip in time to participate in a Labor Day bout.

New Ferry At West Point.

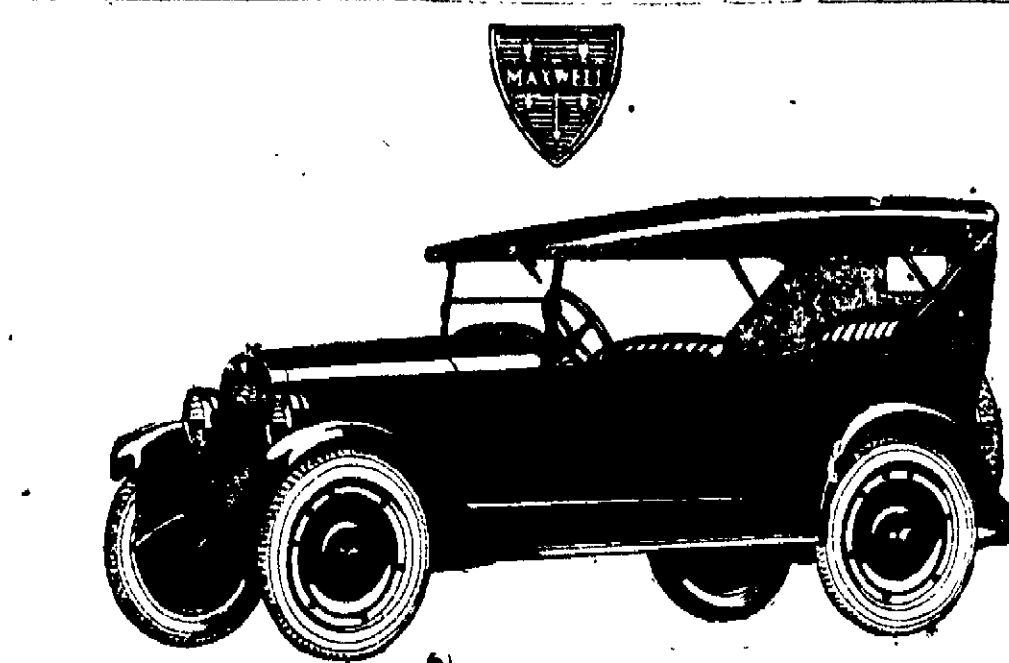

The "Garrison," a new steel ferry-boat, has been received by the Garrison and West Point Ferry Company and will be of great assistance in relieving congested traffic at those places during the summer. The new boat is capable of carrying fifty large automobiles and three times as many passengers as the old "Highlander." The new boat cannot be used until the ferry slips are made big enough to accommodate her. After going on the route the new ferry will run the year round.

B. R. Deyo Co. Election.

A certificate of election of officers of the B. R. MAXWELL

MAGNIFICENT WORK OF ART

Papal Tiara, With Its Wealth of Jewels, Is by Far the Most Costly Earthly Crown.

The papal tiara worn by Pius XI is a magnificent sample of the goldsmith's and jeweler's work. It is formed on a basis of very fine mesh covered with a kind of silver mesh on which there are three crowns. Each of these consists of a good band of extremely light construction, set with jewels and edged with two rows of pearls. There are 30 pearls in each row, making 240 pearls in all.

The first crown is, in addition to the pearls, adorned in the order given with 16 rubies, three emeralds, a hyacinth, an aquamarine, three rubies, a sapphire and eight gold points with five garnets and two Balas rubies. The second crown has ten emeralds, eight Balas rubies, one chrysolite, two aquamarines, six small rubies and three sapphires.

In the third are 16 small Balas rubies, three larger Balas rubies, four sapphires, three hyacinths, three aquamarines, one garnet, eight gold floral ornaments each with two emeralds, one Balas ruby, a chrysolite and eight gold points, each adorned with a garnet.

The top of the tiara is covered with a layer of thin gold, in which there are set eight rubies and eight emeralds. This gold covering is surmounted by a golden globe enameled in blue, on top of which is a cross composed of eleven brilliants. Finally the fanions of the tiara, which bear the arms of the pontiff, are adorned with topazes, emeralds and other jewels.

Altogether, without reckoning the six rows of valuable pearls, there are 140 jewels of various colors and eleven brilliants.

Petroleum Long in Use.

"The discovery of oil." "The first discovery of oil." "The discovery of petroleum" are phrases frequently encountered. If a man speaks of the discovery or finding of oil in the Geyser Gush district of Spouter county he is within his rights, but petroleum was known to ancient man as far back in the world's time as records of stone, baked clay and papyrus go, says a New York Sun writer.

And petroleum in the United States was known to the Indians from the beginning of Indian times, but how long Indians had been in the United States before the coming of the pale faces no man knows. That race of those races which lived in the United States before the Indians knew crude oil. "Before the discovery of petroleum" is a big order.

Ancient man not only knew it, but used it as an illuminant. Bitumen was used in building the tower of Babel, though in the Old Testament the translators have rendered it as "pitch." Thousands of years before Christ the masons of Babylon, Nineveh, Chaldea and all the rest used petroleum in seal liquid form in bonding or cementing the bricks that went into the walls of palaces, temples and tombs. It was used in building the pyramids.

Business Up in Air.

A special airplane, with a cabin containing desks, typewriter and other office equipment, has been ordered by a London business man with big interests in Paris, Brussels and other continental cities.

MAN OF FAITH AND LEARNING

Origen Considered One of the Greatest of the Early Church Fathers—Upheld Christian Faith.

Origen, surnamed Adamantius, who lived from 185 to 254 A. D., is considered by some authorities as the greatest of the early church fathers. Alexandria, in Egypt, the great seat of learning of the time, is thought to have been his birthplace. He was a teacher and deep student of philosophy and of the Scriptures, and he became a great defender of the Christian faith. His literary productions were numerous and several have come down to the modern world, among them being a treatise on theology, a few sermons or discourses of that nature, parts of commentaries on the Gospels of St. Matthew and St. John and St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans. His greatest work is his defense of Christianity against the attacks in the writings of Celsus, an Epicurean philosopher of the Second century. Celsus's work is not extant, but the character of it is made clear in Origen's refutation, which contains many quotations, and Origen's line of argument indicates clearly the line of attack followed by Celsus. The attacks upon Christianity by many critics are simply repetitions of Celsus's objections, which Origen answered about seventeen hundred years ago.

Where Business Moves Slowly.

Business methods are invariably slow in the Near East, according to Miss Grace Willis who has returned recently from a period of service with the Y. W. C. A. in Constantinople, Stamboul and Beirut. "It takes at least a half a day to deposit a check and even longer to draw one out," says Miss Willis. "The general condition that exists in business houses is undoubtedly due to the fact that so many nationalities, each with their own way of doing things, are gathered under one roof. The girls of the Near East are particularly keen for business courses and there is a tremendous demand in the many commercial houses for well-trained clerical workers and stenographers. I consider that when, from the business courses given by the Y. W. C. A., efficient business women have been turned out after nine months' training, a remarkable piece of work has been accomplished."

Veteran.

After working 56 years in steel mills, Edward Quilly retired on pension. He was the oldest employee of the American Steel and Wire company. He started to work before the Bessemer converter and open-hearth process were invented.

Looking backward over his life, Quilly is amazed most at the way traveling cranes and other machinery have relieved human muscles.

He says: "The men have more brains than they used to." Average intelligence will steadily increase, as machinery gradually frees man from drudgery.

Energy, now consumed by muscular effort, will flow into the brain, generating thought, developing a race of philosophers.

Best Carrier Pigeon.

The best carrier pigeon is the Antwerp or Belgian Voyager, which can fly 500 miles in 12 hours if the weather is fine.

FORMER SALOON NOW CHURCH

Remarkable Transformation for Which the Congregation Is Very Literally Responsible.

The Bronx, New York's famous residential section, has a home-made church. It began life as a saloon in the period antedating the year 1, A. D. (ante, Volstead). Then followed a spell as a billiard parlor. Rev. A. V. Vos, an Episcopal clergyman, next appeared upon the scene. He rented the ex-saloon, organized a congregation, and with a big showcase for an altar and a dozen rude benches for the accommodation of his flock, which included Germans, Italians, Hungarians, Irish and Americans, the initial service was held. In course of time the little congregation increased to about fifty, bought the place, paid off the debt in sums of $15 and $20 at a time and at length laid aside a reserve fund. And this is what they did with it:

Including in their number carpenters, bricklayers, cement workers, electricians, etc., they had a church meeting, purchased out the work among themselves, and on the night of December 3 last they began tearing out the front of the building. Each night thereafter, as soon as supper was disposed of, the volunteer workers got back on the job and by working every night save Sunday—sometimes well into the morning—they have succeeded in making over the place into a pretty little concrete edifice of the old Spanish mission type. It includes not only the chapel proper, but a dining hall, social hall, kitchen, etc. Rev. Mr. Vos says: "It isn't a cathedral, but to us it is the finest church building in the world because we have reared it with our own hands." Plans are being formed for the consecration of the building by Bishop Manning at an early date.

Ancient Family Tree of the Cat.

A family history that goes back to remote antiquity in Egypt is the boast of the common tabby cat. His ancestors were adored guests in the temples of Baalbek and Heliopolis on the Nile, and were considered so sacred that when they died their bodies were placed in carved and painted mummy cases. Hundreds of these may be seen at the present day in the collection near Boulak, Cairo.

The name "tabby" used always for the short-haired variety that is most common both in Europe and in America, comes from the same source as the word taffeta, and refers to the markings of color on the coat. Both came from a trading town in Baghdad, by Attab, which was a center of caravan trade.

A few of these short-haired pussy cats as well as long-haired Persians were brought along in Arabian caravans because they were valuable to merchants who bought spices and broccolis, and the fine mohair entered silk that was called the silk of Attab, or tabby and taffeta. English writers as late as the seventeenth century refer to "tabby vests" of silk.

Vocal Music Supreme.

Wagner wrote: The human voice is really the foundation of all music; and whatever the development of the art, whatever the boldest combinations of a composer, or the most brilliant execution of a virtuoso, in the end they must always return to the standard set by vocal music.

WAGE DIFFERENCE CAUSES TROUBLE

Metal Workers in Barth's New York Plant Strike Because Kingston Employees Work for Less Wages—Trying to Adjust Differences.

The eight metal workers employed at the local plant of L. Barth & Son, Inc., are out on strike, following a strike in the New York plant of the concern.

From what can be learned, the Barth plant employs union men. In the New York plant the metal workers receive $3 a day, while in Kingston the wage scale is $2 a day. The Kingston metal workers are members of a local union.

The New York union men struck because the wage scale in the plant here was lower than the union scale there. They sent a representative to Kingston who talked it over with the local metal workers and a strike followed.

Living conditions in Kingston are much better than in New York which was the reason for the lower wage scale here and for that reason the local metal workers, it is said, were satisfied with the wage scale prevailing in this city.

It is expected that the matter will be amicably adjusted and that the strike will be settled.

A. J. OLIVET WILL ERECT THREE STORES

A. J. Olivet, the wholesale ice cream manufacturer located at No. 35 Prince street is planning for a busy season at his Prince street plant this summer, and is of the opinion that there will be a big demand for ice cream. Some one, maliciously inclined, has been circulating a rumor that he intended to retire from the ice cream business, and he states that the rumor is without foundation.

Mr. Olivet recently bought the three story brick building at the corner of Broadway and O'Neil street. The first floor is occupied by the branch store of J. J. Johnson, the hardware dealer. The two upper floors are used for offices.

Mr. Olivet intends to improve the apartments upstairs. He will make some alterations to the building. The first floor will continue to be occupied by the Johnson branch store, and the upper floors will be leased as apartments as at present.

On O'Neil street, adjoining the present building, Mr. Olivet is planning to erect a one story brick addition large enough to be made into three stores. The work will be done this year.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Sarah Keator, widow of Charles Keator, died at her home at East Kingston on Monday in her fifty-sixth year.

The funeral will take place from her late residence on Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock and from the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church at 1:30 o'clock. Interment in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Ada C. Terwilliger, nee Ter Bush, wife of Lee W. Terwilliger, died Monday afternoon at Catskill. The funeral will be held from her late residence, 230 Grand View avenue, Catskill, at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning. Service will be held at 12 o'clock noon at Willwyck Cemetery, this city, where the remains will be interred.

The funeral of Margaret, wife of the late Andrew Wojcik, was held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Wolfersheim, 41 Hudson street, this morning and at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock, where a Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. John J. Duffy. The interment was in the family plot in Willwyck cemetery.

William J. Reilly died at Philmont Sanitarium, Hudson, on Monday morning. He was the son of the late Patrick and Catherine Dougherty Reilly, formerly of East Kingston. Besides his wife, who was Catherine Joyce, he is survived by five children and two sisters, Mrs. Frank McCarthy and Mrs. James J. Kennedy of Eddyville. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning from his late residence, No. 317 State street, Hudson, at 8:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock, where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, this city.

Five Days For Joe.

Joe Steinilber's quarry home will be without a tenant for the next five days as Joe is languishing in the county jail for that period, having been committed this morning by Judge Schrick in police court. Joe left his quarry home on Monday and obtained some bad booze—at least it was bad for Joe—for he was later picked up on a charge of public intoxication by Officer Camp.

Ohio River Still Rising.

Cincinnati, O., April 18.—The Ohio river will reach a flood stage of fifty feet here Wednesday morning, according to a bulletin issued this morning by Weather Forecaster W. C. Devereaux. Further heavy rains, the bulletin states, will bring water levels after reaching the fifty-foot crest. The river reached a stage of 46.2 feet here at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning and was rising at the rate of 3 feet an hour.

His Leg Amputated.

BOGUS SALVATION ARMY SOLICITORS

Throughout Ulster county men representing themselves as collectors for the Salvation Army fund have solicited a considerable number of families. At the Salvation Army headquarters today reports show they have been operating in Saugerties, Rosendale and Wallkill. Undoubtedly they are working in different sections of the county at present. If any one is approached they should ask to see the credentials, which are furnished each worker by Campaign Manager Bernstein. All not having these are impostors.

Society Notes

Postponed Meeting Monday Club.

Owing to yesterday's storm, the last meeting of the Monday Club was postponed until next week when the club members will meet with Mr. William M. Davis.

Taylor-Chadwick.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hartwick announced the marriage of their sister, Helen Ver Nooy Chadwick to Walter Elliott Taylor on Saturday, April 15, at Ann Arbor, Michigan. Miss Chadwick was formerly well known and a popular Ellenville girl and will have the good wishes of a large circle of friends.

Morris-Olds.

Miss Willhelme Olds and Edward Morris, both of this city, were quietly married Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Clinton Avenue parsonage, the Rev. George M. Grant officiating. They were attended by Miss Edna Crispell and Herman Morris, a brother of the groom. Following a wedding trip to Dover, N. Y., they will reside in this city.

Easter Week Social Events.

Kingston is being quite festive this Easter week, there being a number of delightful social events taking place. On Monday Mrs. John D. Schenck entertained at luncheon in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward M. H. Knapp, who have just come to Kingston. Mr. Knapp being the new pastor of St. John's Church. On Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horbert entertained at dinner in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Paul T. Harper of Albany. Today, Mrs. Paul T. Harper of Albany was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. Rodney B. Osterhout. This evening a dance will follow the Hamilton College Glee Club concert at the high school. Saturday afternoon another happily anticipated social event will be the tea dance given at the Knights of Columbus Hall for the benefit of the Kingston City Hospital Auxiliary work.

Reuter-Burger.

A very pretty home wedding took place on Easter Sunday at 1 o'clock when Mary Theresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reuter of Union Center became the bride of John Oliver, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Beaver of Esopus. The wedding, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, was performed by the Rev. G. W. Gubek under a canopy of pink and white, with a background of ferns and potted plants. The bride, who was attired in white silk georgette, with a veil, carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and calla lilies, had for her bridesmaid Miss Ethel Contant, who wore pink silk georgette and carried pink carnations. The best man was Paul Beaver, brother of the groom. A bridal luncheon was served, the centerpiece being a beautifully decorated wedding cake, the gift of the bride's grandmother. Those present were the Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Gubek, Mr. and Mrs. H. Burger and son, William, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Beaver, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wells, grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Beaver's grandmother of the Reuter family, Mrs. Josephine Lowry of Kingston, the bride's father, John Oliver, and a host of other friends were waiting to shower them with rice and confetti as they boarded the 4:30 train for New York city. Upon their return the happy couple will reside at Esopus, where a newly furnished home awaits them.

Craven-Lowry.

A wedding of unusual interest took place today in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church at Rosendale, N. Y., when Miss Mary Josephine Lowry, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Lowry of Creek Locks and Joseph Alphonse Craven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Craven of North Adams, Mass., were united in marriage. The ceremony was followed by a nuptial mass celebrated by the Rev. Edward J. Higgins, pastor of St. Peter's Church, and a close friend of both bride and groom, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Prendergast of Milton, N. Y., also an intimate friend of both people. The bride was attired in a beautiful suit of blue pique tulle and light blue corsage bouffant of lilacs of the valley and La France roses. She was attended by Miss Lillian T. Craven of North Adams, a sister of the groom, who acted as bridesmaid and wore an attractive suit of blue tulle, and had to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. William L. Lowry of Creek Locks brother of the bride, acted as best man. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home to the intimate friends of both families.

COFFEY WINS BY LARGE MARGIN

At Bolton Hall, Troy Monday evening, the Collar City A. C., staged boxing matches which surpassed all others this season. Frankie Ryan of Troy won from Ray West, via the K. O. route and Steve Stark won from Johnny Stanton by a knockout. The feature bout was between Vince Coffey, local welterweight and Paul Clements of Brooklyn a rugged southpaw welter. Coffey was awarded the judges' decision.

The awkward style of the Brooklynite baffled Coffey in the early rounds but the local boy worked out a plan of battle in the closing periods that worked out with winning results. Coffey, in defeating the rugged Clements, gave a first class exhibition of his ring generalship and cleverness. The local boy worked both hands in nifty fashion throughout the bout and was beating Clements in a neat manner at the wind-up. He blocked most of Clements's hefty left hand punches, while a good many landed around his neck or high on his back. Coffey was the aggressor throughout and had Clements on the ropes in every round.

The local boxer was at sea in the early rounds as Clements is one of those southpaws who fights with his right hand extended and his left drawn back for a healthy sock. Coffey got his right within range of Clements's jaw in the fifth round and from then on he whaled into the Brooklyn fighter. Clements connected with a hard left to the stomach in the eighth round that made Coffey double up for a few seconds, but this was the only effective punch that he landed.

Coffey beat Clements by a wide margin in the last four rounds, finding the Brooklyn fighter's jaw and body with a series of lefts and rights. Clements was missing often in the closing rounds and his left was useless. Coffey blocking or stepping under it at every move.

How Many Stars?

We think of the multitude of stars and would in all probability say that on a clear, frosty, moonless night we see millions of them. In reality, on such a night, if we leave out the faintly luminous Milky way, we see fewer than 8,000 distinct stars. In the whole starry sphere, of which we see only half at any given time, there are only a score of first-magnitude stars, beginning with Sirius, the brightest of them, and including stars like Orion's right shoulder and left knee, Betelgeuse and Rigel, Vega and Arcturus.
